[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

This feeling was reflected in the anxiety manifest in all circles of the city.

OHIO SYNOD OPENS A SIX DAY SESSION

Gather at Appleton to Settle Matters of Importance in Church World.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Appleton, Wis., Aug. 20.—This morning at 10 o'clock at Zion Lutheran church in this city the first session of the Ohio Synod and other states opened and will continue intermittently for six days. For twenty-four hours, fifty-six clergymen and lay delegates, including the officers of the synod, have been in session preparing a program for the six days' meeting of the convention and this program will be announced this evening.

The principal business of the synod, aside from the biennial report of the officers and a review of general conditions in the synod during the last two years, will be a disposition of the question of affiliating the Ohio and Iowa synods. This question has been under informal discussion for nearly two years and it is expected that the present convention will finally dispose of it. According to the opinion of several of the prominent officers, who are here for the convention, there is a strong probability of the two synods being combined, thus throwing into one organization the management of practically $10,000,000 worth of property and combining the interests of upwards of 500,000 communicants.

All of the officers of the synod are present as follows: President, the Rev. C. H. Schuetz of Columbus, Ohio; Vice-president, Rev. A. B. Boshart, Youngstown, O.; and the Rev. D. L. Ernst of St. Paul, Minn., English secretary, Rev. W. H. Price, Detroit, Mich.; German secretary, Rev. W. D. Ahl, Oshkosh; treasurer, C. Nagel, Springfield, O.

This is the first time since the organization of this synod in 1816 that the biennial convention has been held in a city located farther west than Chicago. According to President Schuetz the next synod in all probability will be held at Pittsburg, Pa., that city having seemingly secured most of the delegates, about 200 in number.

MADISON REPORTS A GANG OF CRIMINALS

Thought to Be Local Youths at Work Committing Petty Crimes at Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 20.—The petty crimes that were of almost nightly occurrence in Madison last spring have resumed. The week three small holdups occurred and the police force is working on the theory that a gang of young bloods of the city is responsible for the offenses, but as yet no arrests have been made. Last spring more than 40 petty crimes, such as entering homes and stealing articles of food and clothing, were reported to the police. Earnest Eckstein captured a fellow in his home one night and immediately the series of small offenses ceased. It is believed that when the gang became frightened and temporarily reformed, to break out again this week.

FREAR EXONERATES ONE OF HIS WORKERS

Finds Capital Employe Charged with Political Activity Is Not Guilty.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 20.—Secretary of state Frear has made a careful investigation of the report that A. D. Campbell, state immigration commissioner, has been devoting his time to political work while under state salary, and has come to the conclusion that reports of activity on the part of this subordinate are totally unfounded. Mr. Frear declares his determination to have all state employees under him strictly observe the letter and spirit of the civil service law. He took such a stand in dealing with state Treasurer Dahl in accepting the resignation of Chief Clerk J. J. Castle of the land office, which resignation had been tendered because Castle insisted upon devoting a month to campaign speaking in the congressional districts in the second and eleventh districts.

OBSERVE FRONTIER DAY AT CHEYENNE

Carnival Includes Roping and Riding Contests by Men From All Over West.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 20.—Special trains from Denver and many other points brought large crowds of visitors to Cheyenne today for the opening of the annual Frontier Day celebration. The celebration, which was inaugurated some years ago as a purely local festivity, has grown in popularity and magnitude until it has become one of the foremost yearly carnivals to be given west of the Mississippi.

The affair this year will run three days and judging from the number of visitors already on hand and the elaborate program of entertainment prepared it will be a most notable celebration. Fully 5,000 people are guests of the city already and every arriving train is crowded to its utmost capacity. The streets are lined with booths, and street fairs and peddlers are crying their wares from every corner.

Foremost on the carnival program are the world's championship riding and roping contests. These contests originally were participated in only by cowboys from various parts of Wyoming, but this year the entrants include expert brief throwers from Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and other states and even far-off Hawaii has sent two contestants to the tournament. The cowboys in their picturesque garb and the Indians in their red and yellow blankets are attracting much attention from the visitors.

The races this year are to be run for the first time over the magnificent new track at Frontier park. The park has been greatly improved since last year by the construction of a new track, a steel and concrete grandstand with a seating capacity of 1,500, and the enlargement of the stable and commodious. Many fast horses have been secured for the meeting and it is expected that some record time will be made. The prizes offered this year exceed $10,000.

NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT OF GRAND ARMY OF REPUBLIC

Annual Meeting Will Be Held At Toledo, Ohio, Beginning Week From Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Toledo, O., Aug. 20.—One week hence the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic will be trooping into Toledo for their annual national encampment. The opinion is expressed that the encampment this year will be the most significant, the most interesting and one of the best attended reunions ever held by the veterans of the Civil war. And so indeed it will be if present plans, now nearing completion, are carried out in detail.

The whole city will be handsomely dressed for the occasion. Parks and hunting will cover the building fronts along Summit, Huron, Erie and other leading streets. The many handsome public buildings for which Toledo is noted will be artistically decorated and at night they will be ablaze with hundreds of electric lights. At prominent street intersections several handsome arches are being erected.

One of the notable events in connection with the encampment will be the dedication of the monument on the site of Fort Meigs, a few miles from the city. The Ohio National Guard will join with the veterans in the ceremonies incident to the dedication. Governors Swanson of Virginia, Hasty of Indiana, Warner of Michigan, William of Kentucky and Harris of Ohio have accepted invitations to attend the event.

The parade, which is the big spectacular event of the annual encampment, will take place Wednesday, September 2. The executive committee has received returns indicating that 25,000 veterans will take part. The department of Illinois will lead the march and the department of Ohio, the entertaining hosts, will bring up the rear. Out of regard to the age of the veterans the route of the procession will be short. A dozen or more places where refreshments will be served free to the marchers will be stationed along the route and will be looked after by an army of competent volunteers. A floral shower and a "living flag" by 3500 school children will be features of the pageant. The floral committee has adopted the rose as the official flower of the encampment, and a color scheme of red and yellow, the colors of the Grand Army of the Republic, will be carried out. Every building, large or small, over the entire route of the parade will be decorated, some with great elaboration. The county courthouse, an imposing structure, will be magnificently trimmed from base to dome. The trolley pole of every car in the city will have a flag floating thereon, and all motor cars will be handsomely trimmed with silken banners and with the official yellow of the G. A. R.

Three campfires are announced for encampment week. Among the speakers will be Commander-in-Chief Chas. G. Burton and some of his predecessors in office: Van Sant of Minnesota, Balow of Indiana, Weaver of Missouri, Stewart of Pennsylvania, Brown of Ohio, Golin of Pennsylvania, and Basseur of Missouri.

During the week of the encampment there will be held, as usual, the annual meetings of the various organizations affiliated with the Grand Army of the Republic. These will include the Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Veterans, and the Society of ex-Prisoners of War.

NAME RECEIVER FOR INDIANA RAILROAD

John R. Walsh Road Is Placed in Re- ceiver's Hands—in No Way Af- fects His Interests.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 20.—Myron J. Carpenter was today appointed receiver for the Southern Indiana railroad. The receivership was made necessary by the financial depression and was asked for the purpose of conserving the credit and resources of the company. It is said the receivership does not affect in any unfavorable way Walsh or the firm of J. R. Walsh & Co.

The Southern Indiana was first acquired by John R. Walsh in extending his banking business from banking lines to wider financial expansion and the methods employed to develop the road and finance other railroad enterprises formed a large part of the trial which preceded the conviction of Walsh on the charge of misappropriating the funds of the bank of which he was president.

WILL ISSUE BONDS TO MEET EXPENSES

City of Monroe Makes This Decision That Improvements' Bills May Be Paid.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Aug. 20.—The city of Monroe will issue $15,000 bonds to meet the expenditures incurred by public improvements this year in the municipal water works plant, sewers and street work. A cement storage reservoir will also be built for the Jordan mill, condensing plant at a cost of $4,000. The object of issuing the bonds is to spread the cost of the improvements, which will be permanent, over a period of ten years. If the entire burden be placed upon the city this year, the tax roll would be increased 60 per cent.

John Luchinsinger was re-elected president of the Green County Old Settlers' society at its twenty-fifth annual picnic. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Franklin Mitchell, sister of Mrs. Louise Chavick of Janesville; treasurer, D. S. Young; secretary, N. T. Gapsen; directors, R. C. Whitcomb, chairman, John J. Clemmer and N. B. Trent.

The board of review has reduced the assessment of the three banks of Monroe $17,000. The banks objected to being assessed at their full book value. The board struck out the item of undivided profits, assessing the banks only on their capital and surplus.

VERY VALUABLE

ORE ALREADY REMOVED WORTH FIVE TIMES PRICE OF ALASKA.

JUNEAU, ALASKA CAPITAL

Alaskan Citizens Have Great Grievance Against United States Congress.

One point which is not appreciated by the large majority of the people of the United States is the grievance which the inhabitants of Alaska have against Congress with regard to the laws which have been passed to govern the country. The conditions are such that well understood and laws which would be beneficial and proper in a more civilized community when applied to a country which is as wild as Alaska work great injustice to the inhabitants.

Some idea of the feeling in the northern country can be gathered from the following letter written by A. P. Lovejoy:

We descended the Taku inlet to Gustineau channel, which joins it on the north, where on Douglas Island is located the Treadwell gold mine. This is one of the largest and most valuable in the world, the worth of the ore already removed and that now in sight being estimated at four or five times the price paid for Alaska. It is a quartz proposition of very low grade, the gold running at about $2.50 to the ton, but is handled so skillfully and economically that there is a profit in mining it. The ore is brought up a number of shafts of great depth, one of them going nearly fifteen hundred feet underground, which pierces horizontal tunnels at depths of 200, 400, 600, 700, 900 and 1200 feet. One of these tunnels extends far out under the waters of the channel. The ore is hoisted to the surface and run by gravity dump cars to the stamping machines, where it is handled, pounded and separated entirely by automatic machinery—only a few men being required to keep bearings oiled and see that things run smoothly. There are eight hundred and eighty stamping machines at work at Treadwell now, which constitute one of the largest, if not the largest, quartz gold mines in the world.

Some of the tunneling has given way or been blown up, opening an immense chasm in the side of the mountain, called the "Glorious-hole" and said to be the largest dent in Mother Earth ever made by man. Down this the visitor peers and sees the miners crawling about far below like ants at their task. In the tunnels farther down the hillside are horses that, it is said, have not seen daylight for five years.

Across the channel from the Treadwell mine and its neighboring town of Douglas, is Juneau, named after a nephew of Milwaukee's founder, the capital of Alaska. It is well situated, spreading up a steep hillside, surrounded by mountains and with a creek back of it cutting a fine canyon in which there are some newly developed gold mines.

Juneau was in the turmoil of the election of an Alaskan delegate to congress and politics was everywhere in the air. The Alaskan citizen has a great grievance against the congress of the United States because its regulations for the government of our northernmost territory, while well meant, have been passed with little regard to what Alaska was and needed. It is complained that the mining laws are inadequate, the restrictions on wood cutting would be barbarous if they could be enforced, and the police protection and administration has been wretched. It will be remembered that at the time of the final determination of the Alaskan boundary in 1903, the miners and inhabitants of the interior were very anxious to be placed in British territory because the protection afforded by the mounted police was greatly superior to that under the states' government. In the hope that more intelligent legislation might be obtained, the office of delegate to congress was recently made elective instead of appointive. An instance of congress' lack of information on Alaska, it is cited that it ordered the first election held in convention at Ketchikan in November, a time when most of Alaska is rendered impassable by the deep snows, and Nome and the western coast is frozen in, so that only the delegates from the southern coast could attend the convention. This year the election date is August eleventh, the territory has been thoroughly stamped (imagine stamping five hundred thousand miles, mostly wilderness) and great things for Alaska are hoped from the result.

The next afternoon we arrived at Wrangell, where a fort and trading post were established in 1834 and named after the Russian baron who was governor of Alaska at that time. Many thought this the most beautiful situated of any of the Alaskan towns, but much of the charm doubtless came from the fact that it was our first all-summer day since leaving Victoria, and resulted in a glorious golden sunset which lingered long over the western islands and lighted up the rude houses of the town at an hour when you, in the states, were clothed in night. A government post, some Indian grave houses and fine totem poles, constitute the main attractions of Wrangell, but the totem poles are not either in number or size to those of old Kasaan, where we arrived at six o'clock the next morning.

Old Kasaan is situated on a crescent shaped bay opening to the east. It was deserted seven years ago for a town where there were white-man's schools and churches and the assurance of steady employment. Many of the natives' effects are still remaining in old Kasaan. It is like a town from which the inhabitants had suddenly been removed by an unseen hand, leaving their goods scattered about.

The houses are set in a row facing the bay. We entered the largest one, thought by the Indians to be the largest house in Alaska. It was rectangular in shape, the roof supported by two enormous peeled tree trunks for joists which rested upon uprights carved after the manner of totem poles. The walls were made of split logs set on end, and the roof of the same material covered with a thatch of moss. There was a large hole in the center of the roof to let the smoke out. The house consisted of but one room, subdivided into three sections. The outer section was a raised platform, six feet above the foundation and six or eight feet wide, running around the entire house. Inside of this was another platform about half as high and not quite so wide. In the center was an open, rectangular pit. This standing in the center and looking towards the walls in any direction you saw what appeared a pair of stairs. The outer and higher one constituted the bedroom. Evidently the natives slept with their heads to the wall and feet to the fire, in which position it would accommodate a hundred people. The middle floor or landing must have been the living and working place, and the central pit was the fourth and kitchen. The houses belonged to the head of a clan or family and their followers and relations lived with them.

Scattered about we saw many Indian household goods, several worn-out baskets—in the weaving of which the Alaskans were very skilled—square wooden drums made out of one board bent at three corners and neatly dovetailed together at the fourth, fishing spears and rattles of bone and wood.

Though the houses at Kasaan are interesting, the great feature of the town is the totem poles. One or two of these grotesquely carved Indian monuments stand in front of each house. They represent in sign language the history of the man or family they commemorate. These skilled in reading them tell you what tribe and family the owner belonged to, whether a man of the bear, whale, frog, wolf, or raven clan, and what were his principal adventures. The totem poles are made out of cedar trees, some of them very old and decaying, and are still bearing vestiges of the original paint or dyes. The figures are crude and hideous, but all cleverly stimulate the characteristics of the object represented. For instance, a white man has a "stove-pipe" hat, curly hair, mustaches, and a Prince Albert; a whale has a huge head, prominent teeth, and immense dorsal fin and tail. Students of the poles say that what is usually called a whale, is in reality a "koet" or grampus, the most powerful and ferocious of cetaceans. The frogs and bears are unmistakable. The raven always has a very pointed beak in the carvings as the Indian tradition says that that bird gazed fixedly at the heavens so long that the rains eroded its beak to a sharp point.

The same families or clans existed among the different tribes in Alaska and each family was associated with some form of animal life. For instance the Taku tribe might be composed of bear, whale, wolf, and eagle families and the Sitka tribe might be composed of bear, whale, eagle, and frog families. If a Taku bear was visiting the Sitkas, he would stay in the Sitka bear-family's house. Probably the original intention of the totem poles was to designate the houses of the different families so that a stranger might know where he was welcomed.

Subsequently totem poles were erected as monuments before the gravehouses and some of them were hollowed out to receive a wooden box, the ashes of the deceased—for the Indians used cremation extensively.

The study of the totem poles is a large and fascinating subject and leads to the investigation of the Indian legends of natural wonders, and their conception of the symbolism of animals. But the officers of the Spokane did not permit any lengthy studies at old Kasaan, for promptly at 7:30 o'clock the recall was sounded, the steamer headed anchor and started on the homeward run.

On our visit of forty-eight hours to Vancouver and "Great Victoria" we visited to old Kasaan, was one of the pleasant features of a trip that will long be remembered as a unique and enjoyable glimpse of a world in the making.

IF THE FRAME IS NEW I'LL MAKE IT LOOK LIKE NEW

This refers to your furniture that needs repairing. Look it over and see if there is not one or more places that need fixing. You know that old proverb, "A stitch in time saves nine." Have your furniture repaired today and it will save the cost of a new piece in the spring. Take a chair for example. Suppose it is scratched and the upholstery is sagged and the covering worn. I'll take this chair, refinish it, upholster it, put new covering on it, and if the frame is good the chair will be returned to you as good as new. The cost won't be but a trifle compared to the cost of a new chair.

We make new chairs, special prices; in fact do anything you wish in the line of furniture repairing.

A Preparation That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ Discovered.
Finally the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of the hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's labor in one laboratory, the dandruff germ was discovered, and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair and speedily eradicates dandruff. ## JOHNSON IS NAMED DESPITE REFUSAL

MINNESOTA DEMOCRATS RENOMINATE THE GOVERNOR.

DOUBT AS TO HIS COURSE

Mention of Executive's Name Starts Tumult That Lasts More Than an Hour—Ticket Completed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 20.—The Democratic state convention met Wednesday in Minneapolis and after a scene of indescribable tumult, caused by the mention of his name and which continued for 44 minutes, Gov. Johnson for a second time was nominated for re-election.

This action of the convention was contrary to his wish, since he had repeatedly refused to be a candidate and declared that if nominated the campaign would be carried on without a general. His secretary, Frank A. Day, said he had no knowledge of the governor's intention and refused to make a prediction as to what his course might be.

Stampede for Johnson.

In the roll call of counties Altich yielded to Ramsey and Mayor Lawlor of St. Paul began his eulogistic speech. At the first mention of Gov. Johnson's name the delegates forgot his repeatedly expressed objection to be nominated and went into a frenzy of enthusiasm. The aisles and the stage were quickly filled with delegates, yelling like Indians, and executing war dances upon the press tables, all the while repeating the name "Johnson, Johnson." A huge photograph of Gov. Johnson was seized from its place on the platform and borne aloft by a delegate.

Meanwhile the band had struck up "Marching Through Georgia," and quickly following in line with county banners waving wildly a procession was formed which many times encircled the hall. Banners were put into the hands of ladies among the spectators on the platform and they were forced to join the yelling throng.

Remainder of the Ticket.

Owing to the unsettled condition of the minds of the delegates at the opening of the convention regarding the entire ticket it was decided that a committee, to be composed of one member from each judicial district, make recommendations for the filling of all places on the ticket except that of governor.

The following recommendations were made by this committee and adopted by the convention:

Lieutenant governor—Julius J. Reitor of Rochester.
Secretary of state—Richard T. Lamb of Clayton.
State treasurer—Henry F. Nelson of Nibbing.
Attorney general—M. E. Matthews of Marshall.

Railway and warehouse commissioners—Hans P. George of Ottumwa county, Robert Nos of Rice county.

After the nomination for governor was made the platform was read. The resolutions presented endorsed the establishment of the harvesting machinery plant at the state prison at Stillwater; favored a wide-open tax amendment to the state constitution, favored a non-partisan judiciary, to be elected at separate elections; favored the election of United States senators by popular vote; endorsed the initiative and referendum, and favored a radical employers' liability act, eliminating the feature of contributory negligence on the part of the employee.

A Thrilling Rescue, or How Prof. Toss Displayed His Wonderful Ability.

GEORGE J. GOULD.

This remarkable photograph was taken in Mr. Gould's office since his return to America and during his recent railroad troubles.

New York, Aug.—These days have been strenuous ones for George J. Gould. The Gould system includes the following:

Wabash	2,511	$2,000,000
Missouri Pacific system (including Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande West)	6,955	100,000,000
Wheeling & Lake Erie	455	35,000,000
Texas & Pacific	1,855	50,000,000
Western Maryland	280	60,000,000
Pittsburgh Terminal	30	15,000,000
International & Gt. Northern	104	45,000,000
Totals	17,031	$1,035,510,000

Of these four are already in the hands of a receiver. This is due to an unprecedented series of circumstances which have placed the Gould system in financial straits. The Western Maryland was the first of the lines to go into the hands of a receiver, due, it is said, to the restrictions of the commodity clause of the Hepburn act, which makes it unlawful for a railroad to own coal mines and transport its own products. As the Western Maryland's principal tonnage was derived from its coal properties the uncertainty as to its future terminated in

USE LEAF AS A STIMULANT.
How Coca is Cultivated—Preventive of Sleep and Fatigue.

Coca is the South American invigorant. The shrub from which the coca leaves are obtained grows under favorable conditions to a height of about four meters. It is cultivated in Peru and Bolivia.

At the time the crop is gathered the seeds are sown in beds, when they germinate and grow, and in two months the growing plants reach a height of about a foot. The leaves, grown in the proper sunlight and shade, are yellowish, small and thick. This is the kind of leaf that is preferred for chewing by persons using the leaf as a stimulant, for it is the preventive of sleep and fatigue in the performance of arduous work, inasmuch as they prevent rheumatism, from which miners suffer when working in mines that contain much water. Indians who masticate the leaves of this plant can work 24 hours without eating or sleeping.

Coca leaves are used by the natives when engaged in long and fatiguing journeys and by soldiers when subject to hardships and privations. They may be used with all kinds of food and are said to cure dyspepsia, either taken as an infusion in the shape of tea or by masticating the leaves. The life of the plant when perfect is 80 years.

Rise by Doing the Right.
Great men of all time and in all lands owe their rise and usefulness to an unconquerable determination to do the right under all circumstances, though the heavens should fall. It is truthfulness that makes their characters shine clear and brilliantly through the night of time as guides for those who follow after.

the receivership. Soon after, the Wabash-Pittsburgh terminal railway met a similar fate, when the steel industry of Pittsburgh closed down and thereby decreasing its earnings 75 per cent.

The failure of the International and Great Northern road is explained by its owners as due to the fact that the Texas railway commission ordered the company to make betterments amounting to between $2,000,000 and $1,000,000 at a time when the earnings were being lessened by $500,000 or $400,000 a month.

The other roads of the system, except the Wabash, have been in a more or less bad financial condition for some time. The Missouri-Pacific, it is said, is in such bad physical shape that railroad experts have stated that the entire system should be rebuilt from end to end.

It was thought for some time that the wizard of railway finance, E. H. Harriman, would obtain control of the entire Gould system and first reports upon Mr. Gould's arrival in America were to the effect that he was willing to make an alliance with Mr. Harriman, but since he raised the necessary funds to relieve the Wabash from any financial trouble, due to its having been on the notes of other Gould lines, it is thought that Harriman, although a director, will not dominate the Gould system, for the present at least.

STOP DRINKING
Orrine Destroys Desire for Drink "How to Swear Off"

It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take this pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every fit of remorse that followed his debauches, and then—break it.

But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. When a man takes a pledge voluntarily, he expects to keep it. Every man expects to keep his word, and every broken pledge costs the drunkard many a headache. But he cannot help it. He fights as long as he can, then succumbs to the craving. The nervous system of the habitual drinker is diseased and he must have treatment that will cure his condition.

Orrine is sold under a positive guarantee to cure the drink habit or the money will be refunded. No other treatment for the liquor habit is sold with such a liberal guarantee. Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1 a powder, perfectly tasteless and colorless, which can be given secretly in any food or drink. Orrine No. 2, is in pill form, for those who wish to be cured of the habit, and it should be taken by every one who swears off.

No matter which form of Orrine is used the guarantee is the same. The price of Orrine is $1.00 per box, mailed in plain sealed wrapper upon receipt of price. Write for free booklet on "How to Cure Drunkenness" (mailed in plain, sealed envelope) by The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. Orrine is sold by People's Drug Company and King's Pharmacy.

FUN IS A VITAL NECESSITY.

Can by No Means Be Regarded as an Incidental of Life.

Most people have the impression that fun and humor are life incidents, not necessities; that they are luxuries and have no great bearing upon one's career.

Many think of fun as frivolous, indicating lack of serious purpose in life. There are parents who rebuke their children because they want to have fun and go in for a good time. These parents have yet to learn the great part which fun and humor play in the physical economy, and their influence on the life.

What a complete revolution in your whole physical and mental being comes after seeing a really funny play! You went to the play tired, jaded, worried, discouraged. All your mental faculties were clogged with brain ash; you could not think clearly. When you came home you were a new being.—Success Magazine.

He has also been a deputy sheriff for six years. In his work on the police force and as deputy sheriff he has shown himself to be a clean, capable, conscientious officer, strong enough and level headed enough to meet any emergency. He has made an enviable record as a police officer and has captured some of the country's worst criminals. He is forty-one years old and is in the full vigor of a powerful manhood. We heartily recommend him to all citizens of Rock county, who desire to have the office of sheriff administered in a sane and fearless and efficient manner, and solely for the benefit and welfare of the county. Vote for him at the primaries on September 1st, 1908.

TIME IS SHORT

The near approach of primary day has caused renewed activity among the aspirants for office. In the state at large the fight is centered on the choice for United States Senator and the contest for Lt. Governor. In the congressional districts the nomination of several congressmen is in doubt and in the counties the state senatorial and assembly contests are waxing warm. In the counties themselves comes the fight for county offices.

It is expected that Stephenson will carry Rock county by an overwhelming majority. The Strange-Trottmann contest promises to be a close one with little choice between the two, owing to the lack of knowledge of the voters. Trottmann should have the nomination and ought to receive the vote of the republicans of Rock county. However, Strange is perhaps better known and may receive a large scattering vote.

In the congressional contest, Thos. S. Nolan will carry Rock county without any question. Advice from Lafayette and Watworth show he is exceptionally strong in those two, while Green, Kenosha and Racine counties are the scenes of some strenuous campaigning in his behalf these closing days. Indications are most bright for his nomination and it may be an assured fact if his friends keep up their good work during the next few days.

In the county State Senator Whitehead should receive an ovation as regards votes. His labors in the state senate during his previous terms has been such as to command the respect of voters all over the state and his return would mean much for Rock county. Present indications are that his re-nomination is assured and it is a matter of congratulation to the voters of the county that this is so.

The assembly districts, with the exception of the second, are uncertain as yet, although Whitte's nomination in the first is talked of as certain. Mr. Whitte will make a most excellent assemblyman and a valuable addition to Rock county's representation. In the second district Grant U. Fisher apparently has the field to himself. In the third Mr. Merriman, who served one term in the lower house several years ago, appears to be making a most remarkable campaign that promises results. Beloit is divided in allegiance to him and his opponent and the county districts are said to be slowly lining up in his favor.

The county ticket is being most bitterly contested. The office of sheriff has called forth unusual efforts on the part of the candidates, as has that of district attorney. The county treasurer's office is still in doubt and the other contests are being waged merrily.

The work of the last few days of the campaign may change many a candidate's chances and with this in mind the aspirants for office are putting in their best efforts to swing the undecided vote into their way of thinking.

THOS. S. NOLAN

Every indication now points to Nolan having made more than a favorable impression upon the voters of the first congressional district. Mr. Nolan has always maintained that a campaign of abuse and mud-slinging worked against the mud-slinger and his campaign has been conducted in a clean businesslike manner. Without the aid of the postmasters, his opponent has been able to command, he has visited the different sections of the district making friends and warm and earnest supporters wherever he has gone. His claim to the nomination in good and in view of the fact that the representative of the district was at discord with the entire republican party at the last national convention, opposed the measures vital to the nation and desired by the republican majority in congress after mature deliberation justified. The coming few days will tell the story and friends are bending every effort to aid him in his labor of convincing the voters of his fitness for the office.

A CHOICE OF MEN
If you were a member of the board of trustees of a church and were looking for a new minister who would be at once orthodox in his theological views, attractive in his personality and entertaining in his oratory, you would probably extend a call to some individual like William Jennings Bryan. He would fill the empty pews of the church.

If, however, you were a member of a committee charged with the duty of finding somebody of executive experience, capacity and tact to administer the affairs of your town as mayor, or to take charge of a large estate, you would probably hunt for a man of the character and attainments of William Howard Taft.

The political campaign is resolving itself into a choice between men.

TWO MIGHTY FORCES
Crops that measure up to pretty nearly the ten-year average are now in sight.

The two mightiest forces that are working for business uplift are the prosperity of the farmer and the tremendous accumulation of reserve money in the banks.

It now looks as though McGovern and Hutton had divided the very radical republican vote of the state and that Stephenson was gaining ground every day. This is to be desired as he has every call upon the voters of the state to seek re-nomination.

It does appear hard to have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to elect a man to an exalted position and then learn that your name is being read out at distant chautauques as an undesirable member of the United States Senate by the rule-or-ruin prophet of reform.

Roosevelt is to travel in style when he starts on his African hunting trip. Private gymnasium and shooting gallery on board boat are two of the inducements offered by one steamship line.

The New York man who was dead for three minutes and then came back to life must have wanted to see the great white way once more before he crossed the great divide.

Roosevelt says he is not going on the stump this fall, but strong as he is he may not be able to restrain saying a few words of advice before November.

There is a big drop in immigration this year and the new arrivals are not writing their friends to come and pick up the easy money lying in the streets.

Aeronauts who are seeking room for their flights should go west where the country is flat and level and they can see where they are going to drop a long way off.

Janesville will be well represented at the state fair in Milwaukee this year with the number of men regularly employed, the visitors and the band.

Korn, the democratic nominee, was in Milwaukee yesterday and did not preach the doctrine of rebellion that was expected.

So Davidson went fishing while the rest of the politicians were sweating over the election, and caught some fish too.

Candidate Sherman agrees with everything that Judge Taft has said. This is harmony with a capital T.

Utter should be pardoned for getting unduly excited; it never had a vice-presidential candidate before.

On the calendar of youth the long vacation is beginning to look remarkably short just at present.

Royal names for hotels are sometimes the cause of peculiar misadventures. An aged farmer from the home county decided to make a visit to Toronto. It was the first time he had been at a city station and when a hotel clerk hurried to him with the interrogation: "King Edward?" the new-comer simply smiled as he answered: "No sir—Thomas Cox of Erasmus."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE GREATEST THING.
What is the greatest thing in the world?

The scholar replies:
KNOWLEDGE is the greatest because it is fundamental. Without knowledge one is lost. Knowledge comprehends all that may be known and explains all that may be explained.

The artist replies:
ART is the greatest thing. It is more than knowledge. It is the next to creative power. It is human miracle.

The lawyer replies:
JUSTICE is the greatest of all. Organized society cannot live without it. It is the soul of peace. It is the spring of progress.

Youth replies:
AMBITION is the greatest thing. Without it a man would be but an animal. Civilization is simply realized ambition. Kill ambition and hope would be dead.

Age replies:
CONTENTMENT is greatest. Guard your knowledge, realize your ambition. What then? Rest and contentment fill up the measure of living.

The financier replies:
MONEY is the greatest of all. It makes the difference between savagery and sanity. Its power is known in every place. It moves all things.

The spender replies:
PLEASURE is the greatest thing. The joy of the senses is all. All sensation leads up to enjoyment. He who trends the primrose path of dalliance, he who squeezes most out of the orange of life, is wisest of all.

The mother replies:
SELF SACRIFICE is greatest because it is the highest duty and it gives the supremest pleasure.

The invalid whispers:
HEALTH is greatest. Knowledge, ambition, money, pleasure, contentment—all these flee in the presence of pain and suffering.

The preacher replies:
RELIGION is the greatest of all. It is the only tie that binds men to immortality. It is more than philosophy. It is life.

Now.

Is there no greatest thing? Surely. Let us all answer:

"LOVE is the greatest thing in the world." Without it knowledge is vain, ambition is purposeless, money is useless, contentment impossible. It includes all else. It is the supreme motive of religion, the essence of self sacrifice, the spring of art, the source of all highest pleasures.

Drummond was right. The greatest thing in the world is love.

Why Are We So Hard?

The following motto was on the wall of a woman's bedroom: "Let us take hands and help each other today because we are alive together."

She is a bride of a year, and that is the sentiment with which she furnished her bedroom and tries to carry out her everyday life. The hard heart we give with a word, the mean thought or harsh judgment recalls on ourselves. No woman who is hard and critical is happy.

"Take hands and help each other today" is the sure road to contentment and happiness.

Schubert's Birthplace.

The city of Vienna has purchased the house in which Franz Schubert was born and intends to preserve it in its present condition as long as possible. The price paid was $4,400. The house is one of the old-fashioned, one-story type of buildings, which are fast disappearing from modern Vienna. The front is utterly devoid of any attractive features, but there is a little court behind with wooden galleries and a garden on the steep hillside.

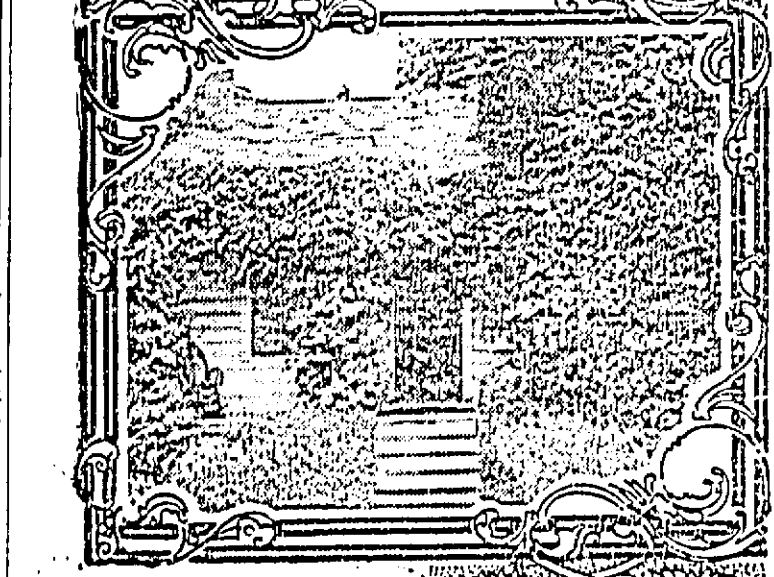

Astonished.

"Just think," exclaimed the sweet boy graduate, "I have secured a position already and the head of the firm has promised to pay me what I am worth."

"Well, what of it?"

"I did not think there was that much money in the world."—Houston Post.

"LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE SUMMER HOMES OF PROMINENT MEN—LUTHER BURBANK AND HIS HOME AT SANTA ROSA, CALIFORNIA.

On the outskirts of Santa Rosa where the beauties of nature are shown at their best, in the unpretentious home of America's greatest genius in plant life, Luther Burbank.

No American home is more typical of the man himself than that of Mr. Burbank. As we approach the house we note the simplicity of its construction, its home-like democracy, which extends before you enter a welcome to all. This is just the type of man Mr. Burbank has proven himself.

Upon looking around we note the artistic arrangement of his flower beds and vines running over the house and trees, everywhere we see plant life at its perfection. This again is typical of the man, for he is wrapped up in his study of plant life and has devoted his entire lifetime to the study and development of nature.

Mr. Burbank is 63 years old and in the most excellent of health and spirits. He is too busy to personally give attention to each caller, for he has thousands during the year; but nothing would please him more than to extend a welcome to these callers and give a word of explanation about his scientific investigation.

BOLD THEFT AT ST. PAUL DEPOT

THREE OF THE GANG ESCAPED AND BOOTY ALSO NOT FOUND.

WILLIAM BURNS ARRESTED

Veterans Here to Attend the Reunion of the 13th Wisconsin Were Victims.

Four pickpockets working through the crowd at the St. Paul depot last evening at 6:30 took away with $75 in cash and two deposit checks—one for $150 and the other for $50. One of the quartet was arrested, but the other three to whom the money had been passed, made their getaway. Alvin Alder of Elberton was one of the victims, losing $15 in cash and two deposit checks totalling $180. William A. Monahan, also of Elberton, was the other unlucky man. His pocketbook containing $50 in cash was taken.

Four men were noticed by the passengers, who were standing about waiting for their trains, who seemed to be together. They crowded in among the people who were attempting to get on the trains, creating as much confusion as possible. Mr. Alder suddenly missed his pocketbook and immediately remembered a suspicious stranger who had been crowding him. He gave the alarm and the man was seized by the bystanders and held until Special Policeman John Dalton took charge of the man. A telephone call to the police station brought Officer Champion to the scene and the alleged pickpocket was soon lodged in the lockup.

Upon search nothing was found upon the man but some small change.

A clipping was found in his pocket giving a list of county fairs and other places where large crowds would be gathered in the near future. This would seem to indicate that the man was one of a gang who followed the fairs and other gatherings of that nature.

None of the money stolen was found and if Burns, as he gave his name at the police station, was one of the gang he had passed the money along.

This morning in the municipal court his examination was set for the 27th of this month and in default of $800 bail he was committed.

Burns is a heavy set man of medium height, dark haired, smooth faced and well dressed.

The other three men probably got out of town on a night freight, as he sufficiently good description could be given by the bystanders to enable the police to find them. The chief chased three suspicious acting men later in the evening, but lost them near the Grand hotel. It is thought that they were the other members of the gang.

Factory and Hotel.

On complaint of D. D. Evans, Assistant State factory inspector, Fred Webber was arrested and charged with allowing his daughter Ella, who was only fifteen years of age, to work in his factory. On May 20 when Mr. Evans was last here the brewery was practically shut down. About the first of August, however, someone from here wrote to J. D. Beck, state labor commissioner, saying that the girl was working in the bottling department of the brewery and was under sixteen years of age.

The complaint was handed to Mr. Evans and on making an examination the girl was found to be employed there on the 14th of this month.

The complaint was made under paragraph 2 of section 1728a of the revised statutes providing that children shall not work in factories except with permit and section 1728b, providing the penalty for a parent allowing such child to work.

Webber pleaded guilty and was fined five dollars and costs.

Shoppers Were Arrested.

Three men giving their names as Russell Yeager, Bert Adams and Charles Seatt were arrested in Chicago on their arrival from here in response to a telegram sent from here yesterday afternoon. The three had been soliciting subscriptions for the Orange Judd Farmer, a weekly newspaper. They had taken in about $200 from Rock county farmers and were to meet an agent of the company here yesterday afternoon and check up with him. Instead of turning over the money to the agent they left for Chicago on the three o'clock train.

When the trio did not show up the agent reported the matter to the police and it was found that they had started for Chicago a telegram was sent to the authorities and the men were taken into custody at the North-Western depot on their arrival.

They are all young fellows, being respectively 22, 25 and 24 years of age.

The rubber tire manufacturing concern who supply me with these excellent buggy tires of which I have put on 2,500 feet this season, have just patented and perfected a re-enforced automobile inner tube. ## NARROW ESCAPE FROM POISONOUS SPIDER

Miss Jessie Burch Finds Tarantula in Bunch of Bananas Last Saturday.

Last Saturday afternoon, while eating a banana, Miss Jessie Burch discovered a large spider crawling up her arm. She shook it off and the insect was captured and shown to a number of people, who pronounced it to be a poisonous tarantula. Miss Burch had purchased a dozen bananas and after going home had placed them on a plate and was eating one when she discovered the spider. It had evidently been concealed in the bunch of fruit and had become dislodged when the bananas were taken out of the paper bag.

The bite of a tarantula is very poisonous and often causes death. They are never found in this part of the country except when brought in from the south.

BUYING PIGS IN 'POKES.

What You Do When You Patronize a Catalogue House.

Would you buy a cat in a bag, a pig in a poke? No? Then you are not one of those who contribute $250,000,000 annually to the support of the catalogue houses in payment for their pictured wares.

Yet there are millions who are doing that very thing, buying the cat in the bag and pig in the poke, and of a stranger, when for the asking they might buy of a neighbor and have ample time to examine their purchase before paying over their money.

Why they prefer thus to buy their cats and their pigs is a question that the local merchant would pay money to have answered.

Why will people otherwise sensible pass up the goods which they can examine before purchase and pay out their good coin to a catalogue house, trusting to the picture and a promise? That they will do it "As true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true."

WARSHIP FLEET REACHES SYDNEY

HALF A MILLION AUSTRALIANS GREET THE AMERICANS.

GRAND SCENE IN HARBOR

Daily Decorated Vessels Swarm That Beautiful Sheet of Water as Battleships Pass Through the Heads.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 20.—Early Thursday morning a thin veil of smoke on the horizon signalled to the watchers on the coast the approach of the American warships, and at 5:30 official notification was sent out that the fleet had been sighted.

It was yet 20 miles outside of Sydney harbor, but this word, which had been awaited eagerly by tens of thousands, started Australians like a call to arms and almost instantly those who had not left the city to take up points of vantage along the bays were moving in droves to line the quays, roof tops and other places on the harbor front, to watch the coming of the warships from the new world.

Beautiful Scene in Harbor.

It is estimated that not less than half a million people assembled to give the visitors a royal welcome, Sydney harbor, with its innumerable bays and coves, never looked more beautiful nor did the American sailors ever witness a more inspiring sight than that which met their eyes as the white ships came through the channel, past the great headlands into Port Jackson.

A hundred thousand people, the greatest single assemblage of all, gathered on the south heads, where a magnificent view of the whole scene was to be had. Hundreds of craft of all kinds moved up and down even at that early hour, all the waters with the exception of the fairway and the anchorages being dotted with little and big vessels decorated in every conceivable manner, with flags and bunting.

Saluted as They Pass the Heads.

In perfect alignment, the flagship Connecticut leading, with Rear Admiral Sperry on the bridge, the warships came out of the harbor, first a little smoke showing and then the hulls, low down in the distance.

Passing in through the Sydney heads in double column, at intervals of 400 yards, the ships looked to have a world of speed and power under their silken sails.

The fleet was greeted with a roar of salutes from the thousands ashore and aloft added their cheers to swell the noisy welcome and countless British and American flags were flung to the breeze. The American ships boomed forth a salute to the port, and as soon as they were safely moored at their anchorages, official visits were exchanged.

General Strike of Tailors Ordered.

New York, Aug. 20.—A general strike of the members of the United States Brotherhood of Tailors was ordered at a meeting of the general executive board of the brotherhood held here Wednesday night. Michael Price, secretary of the board, announced that 30,000 tailors in various parts of the country would be idle within a week unless the demands of the men for a 20 per cent. wage increase were granted.

Nebraska Gets Heavy Rain.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 20.—A heavy rain, that covered practically every section of Nebraska, fell late Tuesday night and Wednesday. Railroad men and crop experts say it is all that was needed to assure a corn crop. In some sections the rain was heavier than desired.

Notice to All Cats.

A cat belonging to Mrs. Jones has caused great annoyance to the small boys of the neighborhood by killing some of their pets, so they decided to set a trap for it. ## TROOPS RIOT IN ATLANTA

REGULARS ON THE WAY WEST FIGHT WITH POLICE.

Soldiers Called from Fort McPherson Suppress the Trouble—One Private is Severely Stabbed.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 20.—Late Wednesday police reserves were called to the Terminal station to quell a riot that broke out among two companies of United States regulars en route from Fort Slocum to the Pacific coast.

When the local police officers were unable to curb the soldiers, a call was made upon Fort McPherson for troops, and Capt. Bunkhead with a company of regulars responded hurriedly. The trouble started early in the afternoon when a number of soldiers broke out of their cars which were on the side-track at the Terminal station and it is said, began annoying passengers entering trains. Officer Hill of the local police force knocked two of the soldiers down and then the trouble became general. Col. Thompson of the Gulf department was notified and he responded, and later Fort McPherson was called upon.

During the fighting a soldier named Frank Smith was seriously stabbed and is now in a local hospital. Joseph A. Blank, another soldier, was placed under arrest.

At 6:30 the officers had the men under control and under guard in their cars. The wildest excitement prevailed at the Terminal station during the riot and many women became hysterical.

RACE CONFLICT THREATENED.

Whites and Negroes May Clash Near Palestine, Tex.

Palestine, Tex., Aug. 20.—The situation in the community three miles west of Palestine is creating great apprehension. Tuesday a large party of mounted farmers severely whipped a negro who they claim made improper remarks to a white girl. Other negroes, learning of this, had a meeting at which threats of retaliation were made, and the farmers armed and equipped themselves for any emergency. The rioters were arrested Wednesday and tried before a justice of the peace, charged with disturbing the peace and holding an unlawful meeting, and were heavily fined.

While everything is quiet now, the situation is considered serious. Gov. Campbell is spending his vacation here.

May Be a Japanese Spy.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 20.—Sam Fiu, a Japanese, stylishly dressed, showing evidence of wealth and, apparently highly educated, was lodged in jail here Wednesday night, charged with trespassing on railroad property. In police circles it is intimated the trespass charge is merely made to hold Fiu pending investigation of a suspicion that as a representative of the Japanese government he has been seeking the secrets of the manufacture of projectiles at the plant of the Fifth-Sterling Steel company, near McKeesport.

Sultan Desleges Morocco City.

Tangier, Aug. 20.—Moulay, a military leader in the service of Abd-el-Aziz, the sultan of record, is encamped outside the walls of Morocco City, according to news which has just reached here from the interior. He has given the city three days in which to surrender. Abd-el-Aziz, with the main army, was eight hours away.

Abe Ruef Held for Trial.

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—Abraham Ruef, former political boss in this city, was held by Judge Cushman Wednesday for trial in the superior court upon a charge of bribing former Supervisor J. J. Furey to vote for an electric street railway franchise.

Jane Cable

... By ...
GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,
Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

"Your father?" asked Cable, with a quick, searching look.

"And then I did save something in Chicago, strange as it may seem," said Bunker, with a smile. "I have a few of your 5 per cents. I trust the road is all right."

The Cables left San Francisco on the following day, accompanied by the Harbison and Graydon Bunker. There was no mistaking the joy which lay under restraint in the faces and attitude of the Cables. David Cable, had grown younger and less gray. It seemed, and his wife was glowing with a new and subdued happiness. Graydon, sitting with the excited Elbert, who was rejoicing in the prospect of New York and the other young man, studied the faces of the three people who sat at the other end of the couch.

Time had wrought its penalties. Cable was thin and his face had lost its virility, but not its power. His eyes never left the face of Jane, who was talking in an earnest, impassioned manner, as was her wont in these days. Frances Cable's face was a study in transition. She had lost the color and vivacity of a year ago, although the change was not apparent to the casual observer. Graydon could see that she had suffered in many ways. The keen, eager appeal for appreciation was gone from her eyes; in its stead was the appeal for love and contentment. Happiness, now struggling against the numbing of a sober pain, was giving her a sweetness to her eyes that had been lost in the ambitions glitter of other days. Elbert bored him, a most unusual condition. He longed to be under the tender, quieting influence at the opposite end of the car. He even resented his temporary exile.

"Jane," Cable was saying with gentle insistence, "it is not just to him. He loves you, and you are not doing the right thing by him."

"You'll find I am right in the end," she said stubbornly.

"I can't bear the thought of your going out as a trained nurse, dear," protested Frances Cable. "There is no necessity. You can have the best of homes and in any place you like. Why waste your life?"

"Waste, mother? It would be wasting my life if I did not find an occupation for it. I can't be idle. I can't exist forever in your love and devotion."

"Good Lord, child, don't be foolish!" exclaimed Cable. "That hurts me more than you think. Everything we have is yours."

"I'm sorry I said it, daddy. I did not mean it in that way. It isn't the money, you know, and it isn't the home, either. No! you must let me choose my own way of living the rest of my life. I came from a foundling hospital. A good and tender nurse found me there and gave me the happiest years of my life. I shall go back there and give the rest of my years to children who are less fortunate than I was. I want to help them, mother, just as you did—only it is different with me."

"You'll see it differently some day," said Mrs. Cable earnestly.

"I don't object to your helping the foundlings, Jane," said Cable, "but I don't see why you have to be a nurse to do it. Other women support such causes, and not as nurses, either. It's—"

"It's my way, daddy, that's all," she said firmly.

"Then why, in the name of heaven, were you so unkind as to keep that poor boy over there alive when he might have died and ended his misery? You nursed him back to life only to give him a wound that cannot be healed. You would ruin his life, Jane. Is it fair? I'm unkind and hard in my opinion."

"Don't you—won't you give me the promise I want, Jane?" he asked eagerly. She placed her hand upon his and shook her head.

"Won't you be good to me, Graydon? Don't make it so hard for me. Please, please don't tell me again that you love me."

"I will," she said, with a smile.

ways—I had a hard, unkind beginning—but I really believe I've got more heart in me than you have."

"David!" exclaimed his wife. Jane looked at the exasperated man in surprise.

"Now, here's what I intend you to do: You owe me something for the love that I give to you; you owe Graydon something for keeping him from dying. If you want to go into the nursing business, all right. But I'm going to demand some of your devotion for my own sake before that time comes. I've loved you all of your life."

"And I've loved you, daddy," she gasped.

"And I'm going to ask you to begin your nursing career by attending to me. I'm sick for want of your love. I'm giving up business for the sake of enjoying it unrestrained. Your mother and I expect it. We are going abroad for our health, and we are going to take you with us. Right now is where you begin your career as a nurse. You've got to begin by taking care of the love that is sick and miserable. We want it to live, my dear. Now, I want a direct decision—at once: Will you take charge of two patients on a long contemplated trip in search of love and rest—wages paid in advance?"

She looked at him, white faced and stunned. He was putting it before her fluently and in a new light. She saw what it was that he considered that she owed to them—the love of a daughter, after all.

An hour later she stood with Graydon on the roof platform of the car. He was trying to talk calmly of the country through which they were rushing, and she was looking positively down the rails that slipped out behind them.

"We'll be in Chicago in three days," he remarked.

"Graydon, I have decided to go abroad for five or six months before starting upon my work. They want me so much, you see," she said, her voice a trifle uncertain.

"I wish I could have some power to persuade you," he said. Changing his tone to one of brisk interest, he went on. "It is right, dear. It will do you great good, and it will be a joy to them. I'll miss you."

"And I shall miss you, Graydon," she said, her eyes very solemn and wistful.

"Won't you—won't you give me the promise I want, Jane?" he asked eagerly. She placed her hand upon his and shook her head.

"Won't you be good to me, Graydon? Don't make it so hard for me. Please, please don't tell me again that you love me."

Now, I want a direct decision—at once: Will you take charge of two patients on a long contemplated trip in search of love and rest—wages paid in advance?"

She looked at him, white faced and stunned. He was putting it before her fluently and in a new light. She saw what it was that he considered that she owed to them—the love of a daughter, after all.

An hour later she stood with Graydon on the roof platform of the car. He was trying to talk calmly of the country through which they were rushing, and she was looking positively down the rails that slipped out behind them.

"We'll be in Chicago in three days," he remarked.

"Graydon, I have decided to go abroad for five or six months before starting upon my work. They want me so much, you see," she said, her voice a trifle uncertain.

"I wish I could have some power to persuade you," he said. Changing his tone to one of brisk interest, he went on. "It is right, dear. It will do you great good, and it will be a joy to them. I'll miss you."

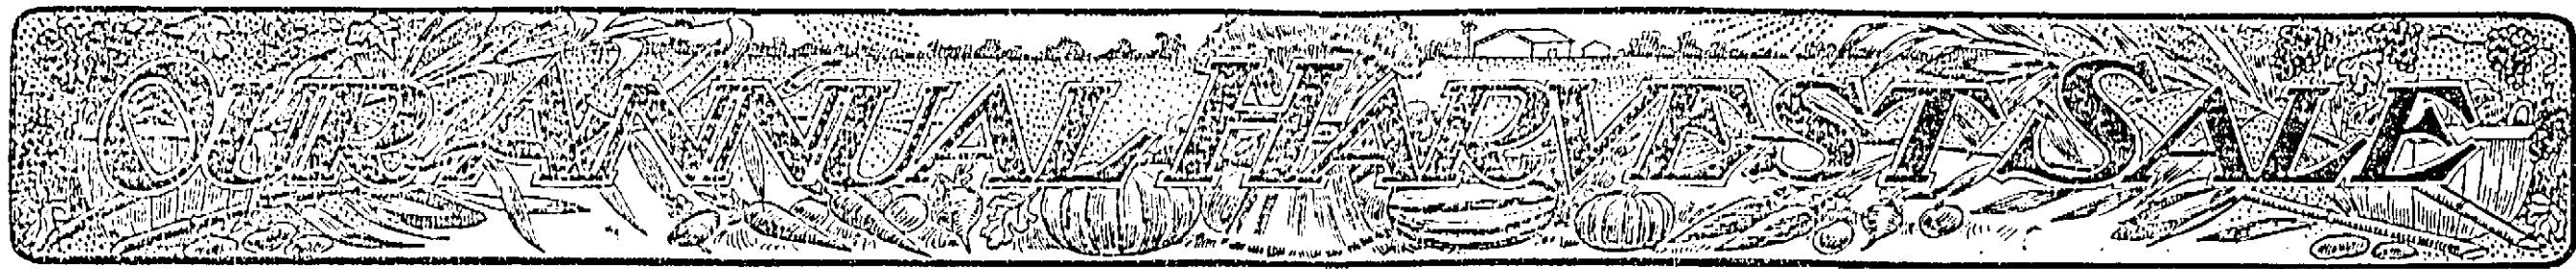

"And I shall miss you, Graydon," she said, her eyes very solemn and wistful.

"Won't you—won't you give me the promise I want, Jane?" he asked eagerly. She placed her hand upon his and shook her head.

"Won't you be good to me, Graydon? Don't make it so hard for me. Please, please don't tell me again that you love me."

"I will," she said, with a smile.

AMELIA BINGHAM'S KITE.

Bryan, Ohio.—There is a republican city of 3,000 in the heart of Ohio, where every man is a Bryanite. Over these Bryanites now waves an enormous Taft banner. The Bryanites are thus labeled not through love for the peerless leader, but because they hail from the city of Bryan. Over Bryan now flies Amelia Bingham's kite.

Amelia has always been a winner, but you ought to see her kite. Mrs. Bingham is an enthusiastic supporter of the heavy-weight candidate for president and she has dedicated one of the biggest kites ever made in Ohio to the success of Bryan. Over the face of the kite is this inscription, "Our Amelia for Taft."

BRODHEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Adelman left for Precept this morning to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mearns are visiting hotel friends.

Helen Clarke of Milwaukee is spending her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Woodling.

Taft's friends claim that the Taft kite flying over Bryan denotes the way Taft will be on the top next November, while Bryan's friends are equally insistent that the kite conveys the idea that the Taft campaign is in the air and that of Bryan based on bed rock is bound to win.

Mrs. Bryan is a native of Hicksville, Ohio, and recently returned for a two weeks' visit to her parental roof. Mrs. Bingham has always been an enthusiastic Republican, and as a means of winning her time she has constructed this immense kite to be made. It is made of muslin and measures 14x20 feet and requires a tall 125 feet long. This kite was put up at the Danville company fair grounds during the races and attracted considerable attention and comment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vance are home from an outing at Lake Chetek.

Could Machinists Favor Strike. Denver, Colo., Aug. 20.—Official announcement was made here Wednesday that the vote of machinists on all the Gould railroads on the question of going on strike in sympathy with the Denver & Rio Grande machinists, who have been out on strike several months, has been completed and has resulted in giving the executive officers of the union authority to call a general strike. However, it is added, a strike will not be called immediately.
